You'll experience a mixture of on and off road driving over a variety of terrains with some steep ascents and descents. Don't worry if your vehicle is not fully equipped - these weekends are designed to help you determine what enhancements are actually needed. They are suitable for standard vehicles, but you may wish to fit Defenders and Discoveries with some underbody protection (differential and steering guards) and vehicles with road tyres run a higher risk of tyre damage. However, the weekends are intended to be non-damaging to you, your vehicle and the environment - our support team will be on hand to help you at all times. The routes used are all public vehicular rights of way and have been reconnoitred in advance by ourselves.

Your companions for the weekend are often new to off-road driving and vehicle expeditions but some will have travelled or are intending to travel, with their vehicles in the near future. There will be opportunities during the weekend for workshop sessions on winching, recovery, navigation and other topics that you may wish to raise. Children and partners +/- dogs are welcomed on the weekend and the pace of the weekend is geared to provide plenty of opportunities to stop and let young co-drivers let-off steam! Needless to say, the evenings will be spent around an open fire amongst friends, with a drink in hand, talking travellers tales under the stars.

We're sure, that as well as giving you the opportunity to meet new friends, you'll have some fun with your vehicle and stimulate future travel plans for yourselves with us.

Driver training

These mini expeditions are a great way to experience vehicle dependant expeditions and for you and your family to decide if this is for you. While extensive off-road driving skills are not needed some basic skills are desirable. For all 4x4 driver training, from familiarisation with your vehicle to advanced driving and recovery techniques we can provide customised training days, 1:1 in your vehicle, at our site in Lancashire – if you are new to off road driving why not book a days customised training with us before your weekend. If you are not sure about your vehicle or experience, please talk to us.

A CB or PMR radio is highly desirable. Tyres of either All Terrain or Mud Terrain tread patterns are most suitable. A winch is not essential and additional fuel cans are not needed.
Specialist equipment - camping	Either roof or ground tents are suitable, along with 3 season sleeping bags and mats or camp beds. The weekend is self-catered, using either your own stoves or the common campfire and you will need to bring all food and drink with you. A Thermos flask is useful for preparing your own hot drinks and you should bring your own chairs, table, cutlery and utensils. You will need warm and windproof outer wear, wet weather gear, strong boots and a set of dry clothing. To minimise our impact on the often unique and fragile environment we will be travelling through, all waste and refuse needs to be disposed of appropriately - so please bring a bin bag, toilet roll, a lighter and a trowel!
